The Great Indoors Mold Pros Earns 2026 Best of South Carolina Honorable Mention Award

IRMO, SC, UNITED STATES, September 14, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Great Indoors Mold Pros, a home mold inspection company serving South Carolina families, has earned a 2026 Best of South Carolina Honorable Mention Award for its health-centered approach to mold testing, education, and indoor environmental concerns. Built around the slogan “Industry-leading mold inspections, designed for when health matters most,” the company helps homeowners get answers about what may be hiding behind walls, under flooring, near old leaks, and in the places where moisture can quietly become a bigger problem.

Led by co-founders Jason and Heather Colby, The Great Indoors Mold Pros brings together science, construction knowledge, health education, and hands-on inspection experience. Jason’s background includes a Master of Science in Biomedical Sciences and Biotechnology, a biology degree, and years of building and remodeling experience. Heather adds expertise in health coaching, functional nutrition, mold remediation, and certified mold sample analysis. Together, they provide full home mold inspections and mold sample analysis designed to help families understand both the condition of their home and the potential health concerns connected to it.

“We started The Great Indoors Mold Pros because families deserve clear answers, not guesswork, when it comes to their homes and their health,” said co-founder Jason Colby. “This recognition is meaningful because it reflects the care, science, and practical guidance we bring to every inspection.”

The 2026 Best of South Carolina Honorable Mention Award underscores the company’s growing reputation for careful testing, straightforward explanations, and service rooted in peace of mind. Looking ahead, The Great Indoors Mold Pros remains focused on helping homeowners take informed steps toward making their homes safer, healthier, and more comfortable.
