Nani Media House Opens Franchise Opportunity (Worldwide Distribution, International Airports, Newsstands and Bookstores)

Nani Media House (NMH), publisher of a portfolio of Good News titles built on success stories rather than conflict and crisis,opens applications worldwide.

LONDON, LONDON, UNITED KINGDOM, August 27, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Nani Media House (NMH), publisher of Rich Monday Paper and a portfolio of Good News titles built on locally sourced success stories rather than conflict and crisis, is opening franchise applications for a limited number of territories worldwide.

Rich Monday Paper + is a British paper with global reach. We curate news that inspires and nurtures your soul and focus only on what is genuinely going well. Every edition covers the world by the things that actually matter: science and progress, communit

Experienced franchise operators looking to add a high-demand, low-complexity concept to their portfolio are taking notice of Nani Media House — and for good reason.

What Sets This Opportunity Apart

Most media franchises stop at a website and a mailing list. NMH franchise partners offers something different: positive journalism in real time with international presence. Every territory is built for distribution through major international airports, airline in-flight networks, newsstands and leading bookstore chains, alongside embassies, international hotel groups and premium shopping centres. Readers don't have to find you. You are already where they are and where they go, available on the flight, at the newsstands, luxury hotels or at home.

The international reach is combined with a fully managed editorial operation. Nani Media House produces every edition, from writing, design, layout, publishing to Google News syndication, from its editorial desk. Franchise partners never need to write an article, unless they want to, build and manage a newsroom, or chase a deadline. The brand's commitment to topical authority, locally sourced success stories and editorial endorsement keeps readers and advertisers coming back and drives powerful word of mouth in every market it enters.

A British brand with global reach, Nani Media House has validated its model across diverse markets and is now expanding aggressively into new territories across North America, Europe, the Middle East and beyond.

The Publications
"We built Nani Media House to fix a dangerous shortage: the news cycle has almost no good news left in it. We spent years building the editorial engine, the distribution network and the brand authority most companies take a decade to earn. Now we're opening the door for the right partners to step into a media business that already works, from day one."

Every franchise includes Rich Monday (published weekly, 52 editions a year) plus one quarterly magazine of the franchise holder's choice: Rich Woman, Rich Man, Rich Mom, Rich Dad, Rich Travel or another title from the NMH growing portfolio. That's 56 editions and 56 front covers a year, done for you publishing service, produced and distributed under your territory rights.

The Investment

The franchise fee starts at £150,000 with total investment for larger or national territories ranging up to £450,000 depending on the size and reach of the territory. All payments are made upfront, in full. There are no annual payments, no deferred payments and no instalment plans.

Franchise holders keep 70% of every order they bring in for advertising, front-cover features, Executive Contributor placements, event sponsorships. Nani Media House retains 30% to cover all editorial production and distribution support. No royalty. No marketing fund. No hidden charges.

Rich Mom Magazine, Summer Solstice Edition brings you motherhood reimagined. Featuring an exclusive interview with Giselle Rufer, founder of DELANCE Swiss watches, celebrating 30 years of passion and social creativity.

The Limited-Time Offer

Pay for one year. Operate for three.
For a limited time, every franchise secured now includes two additional years at no extra cost. A single upfront payment locks in three full years of operations, three years of distribution through the international network above, and a price that is guaranteed for every renewal thereafter. This offer will not be repeated at this price.

Do You Qualify?

Nani Media House is selectively expanding into new territories. To qualify, franchise applicants should have:

- Minimum net worth of £400,000
- Liquid capital of £150,000
- Commercial or entrepreneurial operating experience
- Commitment to the Good News editorial philosophy
- Willingness to build client relationships in their territory

No media or publishing experience is required. Franchise partners are commercial operators, not journalists — the editorial is handled entirely by NMH. Multi-unit operators are encouraged to enquire about territory availability and development agreements.

Next Steps

Territories are limited and awarded on a first-qualified basis. If you'd like to find out whether your city, region or country is available and lock in three years of international distribution for the price of one reply to this message and we'll set up a call.
