

Looking For A Cheap Hotel? Takatrip.com Launches Today

/EINPresswire.com/ Many hotel and travel websites out there offer discounts, but at times don't allow their customers the choice of where they'll stay after shopping with them. In fact, these same hotel websites can also make it difficult for the end customers to alter their reservations made through a website if any possible change in plans or emergency occurs. With Takatrip.com these worries are over.

Takatrip.com provides a free membership to its customers which then grants them exclusive access to their Takatrip hotel network where they can take advantage of exclusive discounts on many big name hotels and brands, but at a cheap hotel price. Takatrip's idea is to put the power back into the hands of the customer during the hotel experience.

Once a part of their network, members search for a hotel deal for their destination point and purchase a Takatrip club voucher, which they in turn use to reserve their hotel of choice at the rate purchased from the Takatrip website directly, eliminating any "middle men" such as a hotel booking website. One of the most interesting aspects of Takatrip's business model is that they don't just offer hotel discounts in trending popular destination cities like New York, Chicago, Jamaica or Orlando. They also feature hotel deals of the day in such diverse locales as Santa Fe, N.M, Charleston, S.C., and Detroit, M.I amongst others.

In addition, what truly sets Takatrip.com apart from its competitors is that the site also offers discounts on hotels many months in advance. They uniquely offer their members the opportunity to purchase hotel discounts up to six months in advance from the date of their travel time, as long as the member agrees to make their reservation within ninety days from date of purchase on the website.
