

The Conference Group Gives Back to Local Families for Thanksgiving

NEWARK, Delaware – The Conference Group was met with applause from local families in Wilmington, DE for their hefty contribution to one of the city's oldest charitable organizations. Sunday Breakfast Mission has made it their goal to serve the homeless, addicted and impoverished year round, but especially combats hunger for Thanksgiving.

Responding to a simple flyer listing non-perishable food items, The Conference Group enthusiastically showed up with boxes and boxes of donations too heavy to carry. The award winning company not only takes pride in their web conferencing services, but undertakes a local community awareness role as well. They literally jumped at the opportunity to kick hunger out of town for Turkey Day.

"We are always looking for new ways to give back to the community and when we heard about a local opportunity with the Sunday Breakfast Mission, it seemed like the perfect fit!" – Karen Ruff. November 20, 2012 was an unexpected and pleasant surprise for the team. They were met with a long line of people cheering at their arrival while waiting outside the Missions' building.
