Competition between cell phone carriers has been heating up in recent years, especially near the holidays. Consumers rely increasingly on their smartphone to keep them connected to their business, co-workers, family, and friends.

As a result, the lucrative cell phone industry is growing. Carriers who hope to dominate the market regularly offer consumers special deals and discounts on their cell phone services.

For example, Verizon Wireless is currently the largest cell phone carrier in the U.S. They are known for quality and reliability of their network as well as a responsive customer support staff. They often offer steep discounts on their service and their line of high-end cell phones are also regularly discounted.

"The Verizon salesperson was very helpful and he transferred all my contacts and pictures from my Samsung Fascinate to my new Droid Razr M," said Debby.

This is just one example of how cell phone carriers are working hard to beat out competitors and claim a large percentage of the market. Other carriers, including Boost Mobile, Virgin Mobile, and Sprint, also hope to win over consumers with special offerings including free and discounted phones.

CouponShoebox, a moneysaving website, searches for deals and discounts that help consumers keep more of their hard-earned money in their pockets. So, it's not surprising that CouponShoebox would dedicate an entire page to cell phone promo code information from the various cell phone carriers.

CouponShoebox is dedicated to offering consumers a one-stop website when searching for online coupon codes and exclusive deals. The moneysaving website offers more than 10,000 online coupon codes on everything from technology to shoes to cell phone services.
