

Sterling Management Launches New Services

/EINPresswire.com/ Sterling Management and Consulting Services, headquartered in Ft. Lauderdale, FL, have expanded their business services and now offer commercial property management, recreational property management, and records storage, along with their existing self-storage facility professional services.

The new services will allow Sterling Management to return to their business roots of commercial property management, which began in the 1970's with the Palomar Airport Business Center, located north of San Diego, CA. Sterling Management is now involved with management of Addison Corporate Center, an office and industrial warehouse complex located in Hartford, CT.

Sterling Management's experience with records management, which dates back to 1994, will complement their industrial and commercial management services. Self storage consulting, management, and feasibility study services will continue to be an area of focus for Sterling Management.

The recreation property management arm of Sterling Management has demonstrated its operational prowess with its effective management of Chula Vista Marina, a major San Diego marina consisting of over 550 slips, retail shops, and two restaurants and Chula Vista RV Park, a 237-space resort in business since 1983.

A new website has been launched to reflect the new services and image of Sterling Management, and can be found by visiting www.sterling-mgmt.com. The website provides an overview of all professional services currently offered along with information on past and current projects. Information about the staff and directions on how to receive a quote from the Sterling Management team is available.
