InfusaLounge Unveils Two-Person OxyEdge Hyperbaric Oxygen Chamber at Its Allen, Texas Clinic

Allen's longest-running IV therapy and functional medicine clinic adds a two-person hyperbaric oxygen chamber, up to 2.0 ATA, bookable as a standalone session.

ALLEN, TX, UNITED STATES, September 6, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- InfusaLounge Integrative & Functional Medicine has launched the OxyEdge Dual Hyperbaric Oxygen Chamber at its Allen clinic, bringing a two-person hyperbaric option to a market where most available chambers seat a single occupant. The founder-launch debut includes an introductory single-session rate of $199, compared with the standard rate of $299.

Unlike traditional single-person chambers, the OxyEdge Dual was selected to make hyperbaric sessions more comfortable without sacrificing clinical capability. The chamber operates at pressures up to 2.0 ATA and is outfitted with two power recliners, two red-light panels, television entertainment, and climate-controlled comfort — allowing guests to complete a session alone or alongside a partner, friend, or family member.

"Most people's picture of hyperbaric therapy is lying alone in a narrow tube," said Melissa Chester, BBA, Founder and Director of Operations at InfusaLounge. "We chose the OxyEdge Dual because it changes that experience completely. You sit in a recliner, you can watch TV or bring someone with you, and the session becomes something you look forward to rather than something you endure."

Hyperbaric oxygen therapy (HBOT) uses increased atmospheric pressure and concentrated oxygen to raise the amount of oxygen carried in the bloodstream and delivered to tissues. Because oxygen is central to cellular energy production and the body's natural repair processes,

HBOT is used by patients incorporating increased oxygen availability into recovery, performance, wellness, and healthy-aging routines. As with every service at InfusaLounge, hyperbaric sessions take place under a medical practice's standards: new patients are screened before their first session, and clinical protocols operate under the medical oversight of Medical Director Phyllis J. Gee, MD, FACOG.

The chamber joins an integrative service menu that spans IV nutrient therapy, NAD+ therapy, red light therapy in the NovaPod 2.0, ozone therapy, functional diagnostics, and physician-supervised medical weight loss. Sessions are open to anyone who wants to experience hyperbaric oxygen therapy on its own — no care plan or membership required — and can also be incorporated into a broader, coordinated care plan for patients who want that. Details on the therapy are available on the clinic's hyperbaric oxygen therapy page.

Founded in 2018, InfusaLounge is Allen's first and longest-running IV therapy clinic and has cared for more than 8,000 patients across its eight-plus years, with its patient base spanning 158 North Texas communities in the past year alone — including McKinney, Frisco, Plano, Richardson, and Fairview.

The OxyEdge Dual is available to book as a standalone session, and founder-launch package pricing is offered for both single and two-guest sessions, with multi-session packs at reduced per-session rates. Patients can book a session online or call or text the clinic at 972-546-4318.
