

Blackstone Media Group Launches New Client Website; Adam Fleming Fort Lauderdale Real Estate

/EINPresswire.com/ Blackstone Media Group (BMGCreative.com), a Fort Lauderdale web design company, announces the recent launch of AdamFleming.com, a custom WordPress website. Adam Fleming is a real estate agent whose website provides listings of Fort Lauderdale property for sale and for rent.

Adam Fleming Fort Lauderdale Real Estate is a reputable, professional company that specializes in rental properties and homes for sale in the Fort Lauderdale area. With robust search functionality built in to the website, users can find affordable apartments and search the IDX for their next South Florida dream home.

Adam Fleming's website is an important part of his business, and an essential marketing tool which allows online searchers to view properties at their convenience. This enables clients to narrow down their list of choices, so that they can only visit those locations in person that fit their requirements to save time and avoid the frustration of seeing properties that do not suit their needs.

Grif Blackstone, President of Blackstone Media Group, says of this web design project, "Adam Fleming came to us with a very specific vision in mind. He knew exactly what kind of website he wanted and left it up to our team to make his vision a reality. The search functionality and integration with IDX is what really makes Adam Fleming's website user friendly. The look and feel of the website is also very unique as far as the real estate industry goes; Adam Fleming is certainly a trendsetter. This custom designed WordPress website is all hand coded and completely individualized to the needs and wants of the client. This is the kind of project that we really get excited about."
