The Muri Beach Club Hotel is a premier Rarotonga accommodation resort.

The highly acclaimed Muri Beach Club Hotel recently celebrated the re-launch of their brand new restaurant "SilverSands". The Rarotonga accommodation resort proudly offers its' patrons a Polynesian Cuisine menu which is the end product of many months of research into the delicious and unusual traditional dishes prepared by different island - dwelling nations within the South Pacific Region.

"The SilverSand's menu is more than simply a menu. It is a labour of love - intended to showcase our love of the fertile soil, the bountiful sea and the beautiful Pacific Island people, with their multicultural backgrounds and ever optimistic, generous spirit," says Liana Scott, General Manager of Muri Beach Club Hotel in the Cook Islands. After many requests from their international guests for authentic Polynesian cuisine and a successful 6 week trial of the various dishes that had painstakingly been researched for the new restaurant concept by the Rarotonga hotels management team, the 'big plunge' was taken by opening the new SilverSands restaurant, with its' Polynesian Cuisine menu entitled - 'A taste of Polynesia.....'

"The strength of the Polynesian Cuisine is in its' relatively sustainable simplicity, whilst continuing to remain adventurous and wholesome," says Liana. "The use of 'whole', raw, unprocessed and organic ingredients provides for optimal nutritional benefit," she adds. In response to many of the Rarotonga Hotel's more 'holistic thinking' patrons, the Muri Beach Club Hotel will be actively using SilverSands as an avenue to promote the [almost endless] range of power-packed local ingredients that are known to stimulate the body's immune and regenerative systems. Where possible, dishes have been 'slow-cooked' and 'rested' to retain maximum food value as well as quality of product.
