"Everyone has an opinion on AI. Fewer have heard directly from the companies behind the chips, the data centers, the power and the battery materials that make it run, or the ones putting AI to work in a trading platform, a store or an online marketplace. On October 1 you get a live 30-minute presentation, then Q&A for what's really on your mind. You can follow that up with your own meeting, which I strongly encourage. Yes, the management teams who participate in the VIC genuinely want to talk to their investors and not just institutional. Don't miss this opportunity," said David Shapiro, Chief Executive Officer of B2i Digital, Inc.
