For all of your foundation repair and waterproofing needs in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, MO, UNITED STATES, September 9, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Fred’s Foundation Repair & Waterproofing is expanding its foundation repair services throughout the St. Louis area, helping homeowners identify and correct foundation problems ranging from cracks and settling to bowing basement walls and structural movement.

As a locally owned foundation repair company, Fred’s works with homeowners throughout St. Louis and surrounding communities to determine the cause of foundation problems and recommend repairs appropriate for the property.

“Foundation problems can look intimidating to homeowners, but not every crack means a home needs an extensive repair,” said Fred Keranovic of Fred’s Foundation Repair & Waterproofing. “Our approach is to look at what is actually happening with the foundation, explain the options clearly and recommend the repair that makes sense for that home.”

Foundation Repair for St. Louis Homes

Foundation problems can develop for several reasons, including soil movement, drainage issues, hydrostatic pressure and changes in moisture conditions around a home.

Signs of a potential foundation problem can include cracks in basement or foundation walls, bowing or leaning walls, uneven floors, sticking doors and windows, cracks around doorways, and visible signs of settling.

Finding the Cause Before Recommending the Repair

Foundation symptoms can have different underlying causes. A wall crack caused by normal movement, for example, may require a different solution than cracking associated with foundation settlement or lateral pressure against a basement wall.

Fred's evaluates the visible symptoms and conditions surrounding the foundation before recommending a repair strategy.

Depending on the problem, repairs may involve crack repair, structural reinforcement, wall stabilization, underpinning, helical or push piers, or other foundation repair methods.

The company's goal is to provide St. Louis homeowners with practical options while avoiding unnecessary work.
