Each lesson runs for one hour and is tailored to the individual student. Sessions are available privately on a one-to-one basis, shared between two students, or taken as a small group, with tutors adapting pace and teaching style to suit how each student learns. The service caters for all school ages, and all tutors are experienced and hold enhanced DBS clearance.

Teaching follows the curricula for Key Stage 1 through to Key Stage 5, including GCSE and A-Level. As part of exam preparation, tutors review key concepts, work through sample questions and share test-taking strategies so students feel confident on the day. The subject list spans STEM areas such as maths, physics and computer science, alongside languages ranging from Arabic to Welsh.

The sciences are taught to exam level, with biology online tutoring uk offered from Key Stage 4 to Key Stage 5, covering GCSE and AS/A-Level. Chemistry is available more widely, and online chemistry tutors support students from Key Stage 1 to Key Stage 5 across the same qualifications.

Tutors monitor progress and give regular feedback throughout. For younger pupils, parents and guardians are kept up to date on how their child is getting on. As one of the online tutors in the UK, Cambridge Online Tutors matches each student with a tutor suited to their subject, level and schedule.
