Ageless Living LA Magazine Goes Inside The Marianna Group's HARVEST Awards Week Luxury Gifting Lounge

Ageless Living LA covers Hollywood, beauty, wellness, and luxury at The Marianna Group's HARVEST Awards Week experience in Beverly Hills.

BEVERLY HILLS, CA, UNITED STATES, September 12, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Hollywood's Awards Week is known for red carpets, television's biggest names and cameras capturing every glamorous arrival, but some of the week's most memorable moments happen beyond the traditional spotlight.

> "HARVEST brought Hollywood, wellness, beauty, and innovation together in one unforgettable room. The Marianna Group created an Awards Week experience that truly connected people."

Ageless Living LA Magazine was among the credentialed media covering The Marianna Group's HARVEST Awards Week Luxury Gifting Lounge, held September 10 at the Beverly Hills Marriott. The event brought together entertainment talent, media, entrepreneurs, creators, and an extensive collection of beauty, wellness, fashion, fitness, and luxury lifestyle brands during one of Hollywood's most celebrated weeks of the year.

For Ageless Living LA Magazine, the experience offered something increasingly important to its editorial mission: access to the people, products, and ideas shaping modern culture beyond the red carpet.

Presented by The Marianna Group, the HARVEST Awards Week experience created an intimate environment where Hollywood talent could discover new brands while founders and entrepreneurs had the opportunity to introduce their products directly to influential guests, media, and entertainment professionals.

The result was a lively Beverly Hills gathering filled with conversation, discovery, and the kind of unexpected connections that often become the most memorable part of Awards Week.

Hollywood Familiar Faces Meet New Discoveries

Among the familiar faces at the HARVEST experience was actor Gilles Marini, whose career has included television and film roles spanning decades.

Marini also holds a special connection to Ageless Living Magazine as a previous Ageless Living LA cover personality, making his appearance at the event especially meaningful for the publication.

The official HARVEST talent materials featured a wide range of actors, television personalities, previous Emmy winners and nominees, producers, and entertainment professionals invited to participate in the Awards Week celebration.

For Ageless Living LA Magazine, celebrity coverage has always extended beyond simply documenting who appeared on a red carpet. The publication approaches entertainment through a broader lifestyle lens, exploring longevity, reinvention, wellness, creativity, entrepreneurship, and the lives people continue building behind their public careers.

That perspective made HARVEST a natural fit.

A Standout Awards Week Experience From The Marianna Group

The Marianna Group, the female-owned entertainment marketing, consulting, and production company founded and led by Heather Marianna, presented the event.

The company has built a reputation around connecting brands in the lifestyle, wellness, and beauty industries with entertainment audiences and opportunities for meaningful exposure.

HARVEST reflected that philosophy throughout the day.

Rather than creating an experience centered solely around gifting, the event gave guests the opportunity to speak directly with founders, discover the stories behind emerging companies and experience products in an environment that felt personal rather than transactional.

Ageless Living LA Magazine extends its appreciation to Heather Marianna and The Marianna Group team for welcoming the publication as attending media and for creating a polished Awards Week experience that brought together Hollywood, entrepreneurship, beauty, wellness, and lifestyle under one roof.

The Beverly Hills Marriott provided an ideal setting for the gathering, with red carpet arrivals and gifting experiences continuing throughout the day.

Beauty, Wellness, and Style Take Center Stage

One of the greatest advantages of covering an event like HARVEST is the opportunity to discover brands that might otherwise remain outside the traditional Hollywood conversation.

Several quickly captured the attention of the Ageless Living editorial team.

Cotrini Skin stood out among the beauty and skincare offerings, reflecting the growing intersection between sophisticated skincare, self-care, and the modern longevity conversation.

RFA Skincare was another notable discovery during the event, joining a strong collection of beauty brands represented throughout the gifting lounge.

Beauty remains an important part of the Ageless Living editorial universe, but the publication approaches the category differently. Modern beauty increasingly connects to confidence, wellness, innovation, and the desire to feel vibrant rather than simply look younger.

That distinction continues to shape the magazine's coverage.

Lizzy James Jewelry Brings Individual Style to HARVEST

The event equally represented fashion and personal expression.

Lizzy James Jewelry was among the brands that caught Ageless Living's attention, bringing an effortless combination of style and individuality to the HARVEST gifting experience.

Jewelry often carries something beyond aesthetic value. It can become part of personal identity, memory, and self-expression, making brands within the category particularly relevant to Ageless Living's lifestyle-focused readership.

The inclusion of accessories alongside wellness, beauty, and fitness brands also demonstrated the diversity of the HARVEST experience.

Pavo Fitness Becomes an Editor's Favorite New Discovery

Among the most exciting discoveries of the day was Pavo Fitness, which quickly became one of Editor-in-Chief Jana Short's favorite new finds from the event.

Fitness occupies an increasingly important place within the modern longevity conversation, particularly as consumers redefine what it means to remain active, strong, and engaged throughout every stage of life.

Pavo Fitness quickly emerged as a brand the publication is eager to learn more about after HARVEST.

That kind of discovery represents one of the most valuable aspects of attending industry experiences in person.

A gifting lounge may introduce a product for the first time, but an authentic connection can lead to a much larger conversation about innovation, entrepreneurship, and the ways brands are responding to what consumers want next.

Purpose Had a Place at the Celebration

The HARVEST Awards Week experience also included Kiss My Paws Rescue, a nonprofit dedicated to the rescue, rehabilitation, and placement of dogs in need.

Its presence brought another dimension to the day, demonstrating that visibility during one of Hollywood's busiest weeks can also be used to draw attention to meaningful causes.

That combination of glamour and purpose aligned naturally with the editorial philosophy of Ageless Living Magazine, where luxury is increasingly defined not simply by what people own, but by the experiences, relationships, and causes that add meaning to their lives.

Ageless Living LA Continues Bringing Readers Closer to the Culture

Coverage of The Marianna Group's HARVEST Awards Week Luxury Gifting Lounge reflects the continued expansion of Ageless Living LA Magazine's entertainment, wellness, and luxury lifestyle coverage.

Los Angeles occupies a unique position within the Ageless Living family of publications because few cities combine entertainment, health, beauty, entrepreneurship, creativity, and reinvention as seamlessly.

Those worlds are no longer separate.

Hollywood talent is entering wellness. Wellness entrepreneurs are entering entertainment. Beauty is becoming intertwined with longevity. Fitness is evolving beyond appearance.

Consumers are searching for products and experiences that support not only how they look, but how they want to live.

Ageless Living LA Magazine intends to remain inside those conversations.

The HARVEST experience offered a glimpse of that future in one Beverly Hills room.

Actors mingled with entrepreneurs. Media discovered emerging brands. Beauty intersected with wellness. Fitness joined fashion and luxury. Purpose existed alongside celebration.

And during a week traditionally defined by television's biggest night, The Marianna Group created a space where another kind of spotlight could shine.

Ageless Living LA Magazine congratulates The Marianna Group and the HARVEST Awards Week team on a successful Beverly Hills event and extends its appreciation to the participating talent, brands, founders, and organizers who made the experience memorable.
