

Natural Retreats Confirms 19 New Luxury Residences at Leighton Hall, Lancashire

/EINPresswire.com/ UK (submitpressrelease123.com - press release) Luxury self-catering company Natural Retreats has announced plans to build 19 new luxury residences on the estate of Leighton Hall, Lancashire due for completion in 2015.

Renowned for providing luxury accommodation in areas of outstanding natural beauty, Natural Retreats has hand-picked the grounds at Leighton Hall for its scenic location in the heart of the Lancashire countryside.

Situated just outside the picturesque village of Carnforth on the edge of the Cumbrian Mountains, 30 minutes from Lake Windermere, the expansive estate is set in a patchwork of emerald green fields and gardens surrounded by woodland.

Natural Retreats new development at Leighton Hall will include the renovation of an abandoned collection of traditional farm buildings, as well as new build cottages and will be the twelfth new destination for Natural Retreats, whose current portfolio stretches across the UK, Ireland, Europe and the USA. Each residence - ranging from one to four bedroom cottages - will incorporate materials reclaimed from the original farm buildings, including stone and slate and offer uninhibited views of the parkland beyond.

Perfect for wedding parties, families, couples, nature-lovers and visitors to Leighton Hall, this new addition will not only intensify tourism to the area, it will also boost local business with community suppliers used wherever possible and the creation of more new jobs.

With the award-winning Leighton Hall itself dominating the estate, the destination has been a long-standing favourite for fairy-tale weddings and special events. With towers, turrets and 80 acres of beautiful grounds to play with, the Gillow family home is opened up every year for couples looking to tie the knot in the idyllic location. With the opening of Natural Retreats Leighton Hall in 2015, wedding parties will be able to hire the residences exclusively and even stay on for the ultimate rural experience.
