LANDING, NJ, UNITED STATES, September 18, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Gallery Collection is expanding its business product offerings with new presentation folder sizes and its first flat notecard assortment boxes, giving businesses and professionals more options for presentations, client communication and everyday correspondence.

The additions build on two established areas of Gallery Collection's product line. With its standard-size presentation folders and greeting card assortment boxes already available to businesses, the company is expanding both collections with new sizes and formats designed to accommodate a wider range of professional needs.

Presentation Folder Collection Expands with New Sizes

Gallery Collection's high-quality 9 x 12 presentation folders, available in both standard and large-capacity formats, provide businesses with a professional way to organize and present proposals, sales materials, documents and other important information.

Based in part on customer feedback and interest in additional formats, Gallery Collection has expanded its presentation folder collection with new 4 x 9, 6 x 9 and 9 x 14.5 sizes.

The expanded selection gives businesses more flexibility to choose a folder that fits the materials they use. The 4 x 9 and 6 x 9 formats provide compact options for brochures, sales materials, client handouts and other smaller-format pieces, while the traditional 9 x 12 format accommodates standard letter-size documents such as proposals, presentations, reports and onboarding materials.

The new 9 x 14.5 folder provides additional space for legal-size documents, making it particularly useful for law firms, real estate professionals, financial organizations and other businesses that regularly work with larger documents.

Depending on the size and style selected, folder options include one or two pockets, business card slits, multiple print locations and personalization capabilities. These options allow organizations to select presentation folders suited to both the materials they need to organize and the professional image they want to present.

“Listening to our customers is an important part of how we determine where to expand our product line,” said Leslie Leifer, CMO. “Customer feedback showed us an opportunity to offer the quality and professional presentation of our existing folders in additional formats.”

Gallery Collection Introduces Its First Flat Notecard Assortment Boxes

Gallery Collection is also adding a new format to its established assortment box collection. While the company already offers a variety of greeting card assortment boxes for businesses, the new Elegant Note Card Assortment Box and Everyday Note Card Assortment Box are its first assortment boxes featuring flat notecards.

Each box contains 24 flat notecards across six designs, with four cards of each design, along with Seal Fast envelopes. Designed for handwritten correspondence, the assortments give businesses and professionals a convenient selection of stationery to keep on hand for thank-you notes, client follow-ups and other personal messages.

The Elegant Note Card Assortment Box features a coordinated selection of blue-toned designs with a polished, professional appearance. The collection is well suited for executive correspondence, client communication and other business settings where a refined presentation is appropriate.

The Everyday Note Card Assortment Box offers a more varied selection of colorful, floral and approachable designs for versatile day-to-day correspondence. The assortment can be particularly useful for relationship-focused professionals, including real estate professionals, who regularly send handwritten thank-you notes, follow-ups and client messages.

More Options for the Ways Businesses Communicate

The new presentation folder sizes and flat notecard assortments expand the ways Gallery Collection can support businesses throughout their professional relationships.

From presenting a proposal or client packet to following up with a handwritten thank-you note, businesses rely on different forms of communication for different situations. By expanding established product categories with new sizes and formats, Gallery Collection is giving customers more options to choose products that fit those needs while maintaining a polished, professional presentation.

The additions continue Gallery Collection’s approach of building on established products and customer feedback to expand the selection available to businesses and professionals.
