Forex technology provider Fair Trading Technology continues to expand its global presence when it attends one of the world's largest forex expos, iFXEXPO, in Macau later this month.

Fair Trading Technology's President of EMEA Sales, John Farrell, says the company's attendance in Macau, which brings together forex executives and leaders from around the globe, is the ideal opportunity to exhibit its technology to the Asian market and to build on its success on other continents.

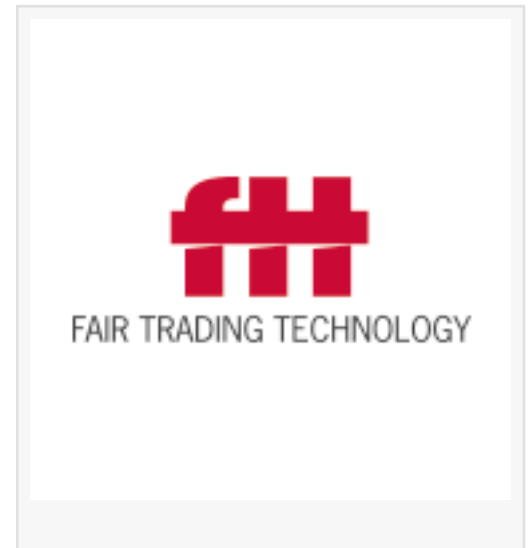

"Fair Trading Technology sees the Macau Summit as the premier Asian FX event of the year. Being able to reach many of the most important FX participants in the region, at one event, is unprecedented," Mr. Farrell said.

"We view Asia as one of the most important and fastest growing Foreign Exchange markets for retail FX. It is absolutely necessary to be close to the market and understand the sector."

In addition to exhibiting their forex solutions, Fair Trading Technology's Chris Gnanakone will also take part in the Mobile Trading Panel on January 23.

Mr. Gnanakone, began forex trading in 2003 and, over time, saw a strong need in the market for the ability to trade free from the desktop. He founded iPhorex, which developed a full-featured iOS-based trading platform to give traders a full complement of trading tools that they can use virtually anywhere. IPhorex was acquired by Fair Trading Technology in 2012, and is now an integral part of the company's suite of forex solutions.

"FTT has developed a robust mobile platform by converging key infrastructure components, such as internet, cloud computing, mobile device operating systems and telecoms," said Mr.

Gnanakone. "This has enabled FTT to deliver a feature rich mobile program that is synchronized across multiple trading platforms to provide trade execution, monitoring and management, anytime anywhere."

The expo is being held on January 23 and 24, 2013, at The Venetian Resort Hotel in Macau.

Fair Trading Technology is a technology provider that brings new and innovative solutions to the day-to-day problems of the FX broker and their clients. Their revolutionary T3 Integration Bridge provides seamless multi-way synchronization between liquidity providers and trading platforms, allowing brokers to offer a seamless shared wallet solution to their clients.
