IRVINE, CA, UNITED STATES, September 17, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Ecosystem Venture Group (EcoVG) has announced the EcoVG Irvine Investment Summit, a curated, one-day event to connect high-growth companies with active investors. The Investment Summit is scheduled for October 1, 2026, in a hybrid format — in person at The Cove at UCI and live via Zoom — two months after its Silicon Valley edition drew strong engagement from the North American investment community.

The July 16 Silicon Valley Investment Summit brought together 179 investors who heard pitches from and engaged directly with entrepreneurs from six carefully selected early-stage companies. The Irvine edition continues EcoVG's cadence of curated events designed to keep high-quality deal flow moving within its trusted venture ecosystem. You can register for the event here.

Each presenting company is actively raising capital and looking for investor guidance and support. This gives investors an opportunity to engage with the founders, evaluate the businesses, and collaborate to build innovative solutions.

Rather than functioning as a traditional pitch event, the EcoVG Irvine Investment Summit is intentionally designed around direct founder engagement, thoughtful discussion, and actionable next steps. Presentations serve as a starting point for deeper conversations, allowing investors to ask questions, understand company strategies, and determine whether opportunities align with their investment objectives.

“The response to our July Summit demonstrated the strong appetite among active investors for exclusive access to emerging companies,” said Nathan McDonald, Managing Partner of EcoVG. “We’re building on that momentum in Irvine by creating another environment where founders and investors can have deep conversations and explore opportunities together.”

Beyond company presentations, the October summit will feature keynote sessions and panel discussions with industry experts and thought leaders, offering perspectives on venture investing, entrepreneurship, market dynamics, and emerging opportunities.

The Irvine Investment Summit reflects EcoVG’s broader mission to strengthen human-first connections among entrepreneurs, investors, and ecosystem partners within a trusted venture ecosystem. By bringing carefully selected companies together with active capital, EcoVG aims to create relationships that extend beyond the event and support long-term growth.

Investors, entrepreneurs, and members of the venture ecosystem interested in attending or learning more are invited to connect with EcoVG for event and registration information.
