

Long Island Mold Inspection Company Revamps Basement Mold Removal Steps for Hurricane Sandy Flooding

/EINPresswire.com/ Long Island Mold Inspection Company, Five Boro Mold, Revamps Basement Mold Removal Protocols for Hurricane Sandy Flood Victims

Long Island Mold Inspection Introduces Cutting-Edge Basement Mold Removal and Basement Waterproofing Methodologies and Technologies for Hurricane Sandy Aftermath.

With the number of cases of mold being reported increasing by the day from Hurricane Sandy flooding, Long Island Mold Inspection is proud to announce basement mold removal and waterproofing for homes and businesses in the tri-state area. This long anticipated service promises homeowners from the troubles of a flooded basement. Sump pumps along with dehumidifiers provide sufficient protection in some cases, but basement waterproofing performed by mold remediation experts leaves nothing to chance. This Long Island mold removal service can be performed within 24 hours of your first phone call. With over two decades of experience, the company has a reputation for restoring air-quality to New York City homes and businesses.

Wet basements can have far-reaching effects especially if the entire house is heated or cooled by systems that are shared between floors. Mold can easily move from one room to another and its opportunistic behavior of seeking wet surfaces makes an entirely new colonization fairly easy."In light of Hurricane Sandy flooding, thousands upon thousands of people in the NYC area are at risk not only from toxic mold infestations, but also from other hazardous materials contaminated by raw sewage and flood waters.", stated a spokesperson for Long Island Mold inspections.

A spokesperson for NYC Mold Inspection and NYC mold testing also commented about home and foundation waterproofing, which will leave homeowners and businesses with no worries about future mold infestations (unless another superstorm rolls in of course). With their strong dedication and commitment to resolving moisture intrusion issues, the company is making tremendous gains in its ability to improve the air-quality and purify the home or business of mold. Toxic mold of black mold is highly dangerous and must be addressed at the earliest opportunity with mold remediation experts for testing and removal. Indoor air quality remediation is Long Island Mold Inspection company's most popular service and with over 1000 homes under their belt, the company takes pride in the work they do.

Protecting children under the age of five and immune compromised residents of homes is a particular concern for Long Island Mold Inspection. Water seepage and mold infestations which occur as a result are dealt with aggressively and for this reason, their protocol is becoming a benchmark for mold prevention and indoor air quality remediation. More important than anything else, the company provides long-term solutions that actually work and are practical in nature. After the mold cleanup, the company will guide you through the steps needed to be taken for mold prevention in the future.
