CINCINNATI, OH, UNITED STATES, September 18, 2026 / EINPresswire.com/ -- Football season is back, and Orlando Brown Jr. is giving fans a whole new way to experience it. The four-time Pro Bowler, Super Bowl champion and Cincinnati Bengals left tackle is stepping behind the mic for "Inside the Pocket," a new weekly podcast co-hosted by Malik Wright, founder and CEO of sports media company TWSN.

Produced by TWSN, "Inside the Pocket" officially kicked off Thursday, September 17 with new episodes dropping every Thursday throughout the football season. Brown has spent his NFL career protecting the pocket. Now, he's bringing fans inside it.

Forget the press conference answers and postgame soundbites. "Inside the Pocket" is built around the conversations fans don't usually get to hear, giving listeners a front-row seat to the stories, personalities and culture behind professional sports.

"I'm really excited to finally bring "Inside the Pocket" to life. This is something I've wanted to do for a long time, and I wanted to create a space where we can have real conversations about football, life and everything that happens beyond the field," said Brown. "Malik and I have a great dynamic, and I think people are going to get to see a different side of us. We're going to talk ball, have some fun and bring people inside our world in a way they haven't seen before."

With Brown bringing the perspective of a current NFL veteran and Wright bringing years of athlete-driven storytelling, the two will break down what's happening on the field while taking the conversation far beyond the scoreboard. Expect candid stories from inside the league, unfiltered takes on the sports world, locker room culture, life away from the game and conversations spanning entertainment, business, culture and more.

The show will also bring athletes and some of the most exciting personalities in sports into the pocket for conversations that reveal a side of them fans rarely get to see.

For Brown, "Inside the Pocket" opens the door to a world he knows better than most. As a second-generation NFL player, Super Bowl champion and one of the league's premier offensive linemen, he has experienced professional football from every angle, from the pressure and preparation to the personalities, relationships and moments that never make the highlight reel.

"'Inside the Pocket' is bigger than just another sports podcast. Orlando Brown Jr. has lived this game from every angle, as a second-generation NFL player, a four-time Pro Bowler and a Super Bowl champion. What makes this special is the opportunity to take people beyond what they see on Sundays and into the mindset, experiences and conversations that shape athletes as people. For me, this is what new media should be, authentic, unfiltered and giving athletes the platform to tell their own stories. I'm also incredibly proud that TWSN produces "Inside the Pocket." It represents what we're building as a media company: creating athlete-driven content, developing original properties and giving athletes the infrastructure to own their voice and connect directly with their audience," said Malik Wright, Founder of TWSN and Co-Host of Inside the Pocket.

No podiums. No scripted answers. Just real conversations, big personalities and a different look at the world of sports.
