CannaGard is the world's first supplement that upgrades medical marijuana patient's mental-and-physical capacities and higher benefits from medical marijuana. CannaGard is part of NEURVANA's new "Recovery Essentials" division of nutraceutical supplements for drug safety.

NEURVANA has introduced a new nutraceutical supplement "CannaGard" to the medical cannabis retail market. CannaGard upgrades user's mental-and-physical capacities to experience higher benefits from medical marijuana. Proven smart nutrients, antioxidants and botanicals enhance cognition... including memory, focus, problem solving and awareness. Mental performance, energy and attention are quickly improved. Pleasurable feelings and sensory perceptions are heightened. CannaGard strengthens the immune system, improves lungs, blocks stress and uplifts moods. CannaGard enhances the benefits of marijuana and minimizes marijuana side effects.

NEURVANA looks to capitalize on the demand for safety in the exploding medical cannabis market. The key demographic buyers of CannaGard are MMJ dispensaries, MMJ physicians and every health-conscious MMJ user.

Marijuana use produces diverse physiological and psychological actions that may adversely affect cognition like memory and learning, proper lung functions and the immune system. CannaGard addresses these challenges.

Tune-UP Memory, Focus and Mental Performance - According to NORML (National Organization for the Reform of Marijuana Laws) persistent cognitive deficits in memory have been found in chronic heavy marijuana users even after abstinence. CannaGard delivers cognitive activators that tune-up memory, mental performance, attention and mood, and antioxidants for preventing undesirable changes in neurons.

Fight Cannabis-Related Respiratory Stress - Heavy marijuana usage can cause recurring bronchitis-like symptoms-- coughing, throat soreness and increased phlegm. A finding that was described by NORML. CannaGard enhances lung functions for proper breathing and helps overturn cannabis-related respiratory stress.

Strengthen the Immune System – The health effects of marijuana alters the body's immune system. This may affect defenses against infections, especially in the lungs and when the immune system is weak. CannaGard provides research-proven, natural immune-enhancing nutraceuticals to strengthen the body's innate immune system and response.

Enhance Endocannabinoid Activity - The body's natural endocannabinoid system protects against degeneration. It regulates immunity, pain-sensation, memory and the effects of cannabis. CannaGard assists how cannabinoid receptors help protect the brain and body from memory loss, damage and aging. Unwanted alterations are blocked in the brains' hippocampus and benefits are enhanced.
