Truck1 Partners with Transport & Logistics Ghent 2026 to Expand Its Benelux Reach

Truck1 joins Transport & Logistics Ghent 2026 as an official media partner, strengthening its connection with the Benelux transport and logistics sector.

GHENT, BELGIUM, September 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Truck1 has joined Transport & Logistics Ghent 2026 as an official media partner, strengthening its connection with the Benelux transport and logistics community. The event will take place on September 22–23 at Flanders Expo in Ghent, bringing together companies working across freight transport, fleet operations, warehousing and supply chain technology.

A focused meeting point for transport and logistics professionals

Transport & Logistics Ghent brings together more than 200 exhibitors and a broad professional audience from across the logistics sector. The exhibition covers freight transport, distribution, warehouse operations, automation, telematics and other technologies used in modern supply chains.

The 2026 edition will run alongside Empack and Logistics & Industrial Build, creating a combined environment for logistics, packaging and industrial infrastructure. More than 6,000 visitors are expected across the two-day event.

For Truck1, the partnership provides an opportunity to engage more closely with a market where commercial vehicles, transport equipment and logistics operations are closely interconnected. The Benelux region remains an important hub for European freight flows, international distribution and fleet activity.

Connecting the event with an international equipment marketplace

Truck1 gives dealers and professional sellers a digital channel for presenting commercial vehicles and equipment to buyers across international markets. Its marketplace currently includes more than 450,000 active listings from verified dealers across 70+ countries.

The range covers equipment directly relevant to the Transport & Logistics Ghent audience, including tractor units, trucks, semi-trailers, forklifts and other material handling machinery.

By joining the event as a media partner, Truck1 adds its international marketplace audience to the wider industry conversation around transport, fleet operations and logistics technology.

About Truck1

Truck1 is an international marketplace for commercial vehicles, machinery and equipment. Available in 36 languages, the platform connects professional sellers with buyers across multiple markets and features offers for trucks, trailers, construction machinery, agricultural equipment, forklifts and other specialized vehicles and machinery.
