Spartan Investment Group Opens New Self-Storage Facility in Bellingham, Washington

The 76,600-square-foot facility expands Spartan's Pacific Northwest presence and offers heated storage options well suited for Bellingham's climate.

GOLDEN, CO, UNITED STATES, September 21, 2026 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Spartan Investment Group, a privately held real estate investment firm founded in 2014 that acquires, develops, and operates self-storage properties throughout the United States, announced today the opening of its newest self-storage facility in Bellingham, Washington. Operating under Spartan's FreeUp Storage brand, the new facility expands the company's presence in the Pacific Northwest and provides additional storage options for residents and businesses in the growing Bellingham market.

"We're excited to open this new facility and continue expanding our presence in the Pacific Northwest," said Ryan Gibson, president and CIO at Spartan Investment Group. "Bellingham is a strong and growing market, and this location gives us the opportunity to provide a high-quality storage experience tailored to the needs of the local community. The addition of heated storage is particularly valuable in this climate, giving customers another option to help protect their belongings throughout the year."

The new facility offers 76,600 square feet of rentable storage space across 541 units and spans 3.8 acres. The property includes eight single-story buildings with a mix of heated and standard storage options for residents, businesses, students and customers moving to or within the Bellingham area.

Located in North Bellingham near Costco and Interstate 5, the facility sits within an established retail corridor with convenient access from surrounding neighborhoods and commercial areas.

The opening comes as Bellingham continues to experience residential and commercial growth. The city plans for approximately 16,525 new residential units by 2036, with North Bellingham positioned to accommodate a significant share of that growth.

The Bellingham facility further strengthens Spartan's footprint in the Pacific Northwest and represents the company's tenth property in the region. The property was developed and constructed by Spartan Construction, Spartan's in-house construction team, and is operated under FreeUp Storage, the company's self-storage management platform.

Spartan and FreeUp Storage will celebrate the facility with a Grand Opening on September 29, 2026, from 2 to 6 p.m., welcoming members of the Bellingham community, local businesses and partners for facility tours, networking and an afternoon of connection, community and opportunity.
