/EINPresswire.com/ Code Provides One Month Free Trial For New Customers

Jack Frost is nipping at everyone's nose, so stay inside this winter and cuddle up on the couch watching a great movie by using a Netflix free trial code from MoneyMing.com.

"There are thousands of movies available for streaming on your television, tablet, phone, and computer from Netflix or you could have them dropped off at your home," says founder David Ning. "Most codes only offer a two week trial, but I have found a full month."

There are many coupon codes floating around the Internet offering free trials of the premiere online streaming and DVD delivery service. The coupon Ning discovered is one that doesn't have the complicated codes associated with it. It easier to use and a great deal.

Ning spends hours combing through websites searching for deals and discounts that will be of interest to his blog readers. Each one is reviewed by him to make sure they are legitimate and once they have been successfully vetted, are immediately placed on the website.

The free trial is only available to new customers and the goal is for them to get a taste of the services and then stay on as regular subscribers. Anyone looking for a fun evening alone with a classic thriller or family time with a Disney movie should take advantage of this offer and see if Netflix is right for them.

"Netflix has something for everyone and my site has found the best and easiest to use deal around," Ning said. "I have personally verified that this Netflix free trial code is valid and ready to use."

Money is tight and everyone is looking for ways to save on everything. Ning developed the site with this in mind and is dedicated to making life a little easier for everyone.
