The new residence is located in Denver's Capital West neighborhood, near public transportation and community amenities and approximately one mile from the Auraria Campus. The program will initially partner with Regis University and MSU Denver, whose staff will identify and refer students experiencing or at risk of homelessness to Depaul USA for assessment and intake.

Eligible students must be 18–25 years old and enrolled in classes at least half-time.

In addition to housing, Dax students will have access to an onsite pantry, financial literacy workshops, educational programming, leadership development, employment assistance and referrals to physical and behavioral health resources. Individualized case management will help students prepare for the transition to permanent housing at the end of the two-year program.

will bring the program's annual reach to more than 110 students. Since its launch, 84% of Dax students have remained in school or graduated and transitioned to permanent housing.
