Casinowebscripts, an online casino software developer, has released their first game on the iTunes market and they are getting started off on the right foot. At first glance the Crown and Anchor Dice Game appears to be very high quality and it is completely free for users with an Apple device to enjoy.

Crown and Anchor

This simple gambling game provides a simple gambling experience, with just enough depth to keep the game interesting over extended periods of play. It is the type of game that users will end up coming back to again and again in spare time, testing luck on their favorite devices.

The game can be obtained through the iTunes store on a personal computer, or it can be added straight through iTunes on any portable apple device just as easily.

Understanding the Game
The game is built around the crown and anchor dice game that was developed in 18th century Britain. The concept of the game is relatively simple. A bet is placed on one of the six symbols across the board. When the six sided dice are rolled , the win amount is revealed based on the symbols that turn up on the dice.

In this version of the game a nice range of betting options are given, that make the game much more interesting, and anybody can try to strategise their way to a massive stack of credits, although it is much easier said than done.

Versatility of Application
The application is very versatile and most modern apple devices will run the game just fine. It works well on every generation of the iPod touch from the 3rd on. It will run on the iPhone 3GS and up, and it will work on any of the iPad models as long as they have at least the iOS 5.1 operating system.

The nice thing about this application is that it utilizes the space on the screen well no matter which device is used to play it. The game resizes dynamically for each of the different devices, and it looks as if it were designed for each of them individually which is rare in an iTunes game offered on so many different devices.

About Casinowebscripts
Casinowebscripts is an online development company for casino software products, and they have a substantial library of flash-based casino games that would look great in most online casinos on the market. They have a team of very skilled developers and that skill shows with their latest app on iTunes as well as the rest of their software library.
