The firms share an emphasis on personal service and lasting relationships with clients and the professionals who serve them. Together, their teams will provide real estate closing and estate planning services supported by Holliday Ingram's broader statewide resources.

"Michael and his team have built strong relationships in Fort Mill by taking care of people," said Hayes Holliday, co-founder and managing partner of Holliday Ingram. "We're pleased to welcome them to Holliday Ingram and to build on that foundation as we serve clients throughout the area."

For Michael Johnson & Associates' clients, the transition will bring the support of a larger South Carolina team while preserving the relationships they have established with the Fort Mill office.

"Our clients and community have always been at the center of our work," said Michael Johnson, founder of Michael Johnson & Associates. "Joining Holliday Ingram gives our team additional resources and the opportunity to better serve our clients."

The combined entity will have its Grand Opening Celebration on October 15th. For more information about Holliday Ingram and its services, visit HollidayIngram.com.
