

The Old School Game Vault Adds iPods To Product List

/EINPresswire.com/ The Old School Game Vault will now buy iPod products in addition to video games and gaming consoles on their online video game store, wcityauctions.com.

In an effort to accommodate customer demand for buying and selling used iPod devices, The Old School Game Vault has recently added iPod products to the list of video games, gaming consoles that they will buy from their clients on their online web store, cityacutions.com. Now anyone that wants to sell iPods such as the iPod touch, the classic iPod, iPod Nano and the iPod Shuffle can do so at The Old School Game Vault, and do so for the guaranteed most competitive prices anywhere.

"We are happy to be able to offer our customers the ability to sell or trade in their iPod devices and like our policy for our video game business, we will pay the best prices for these devices that they will get anywhere," said President and owner of the Old School Game Vault Brandon Hieber. His company has achieved tremendous success in becoming a hub for consumers to sell their old video games and video gaming consoles so it was a natural progression for him to think about expanding the reach of the company into one of the most ubiquitous digital devices ever to hit the market - the iPod.

"Consumers throughout the U.S. and abroad are finding that the best way to buy or trade up for the newest electronic gadgets that they just have to have is to sell or trade-in their old ones first, which makes perfect sense," said Hieber in commenting on his decision to offer to purchase used iPods. "After all, if you have an iPod touch, classic, Nano or Shuffle that is in perfectly good condition why not try to sell it because there is definitely a market for them," he continued.

The people at The Old School Game Vault are experts in valuing your old video games and electronics so it's no surprise that they are able to pay the highest prices anywhere when you want to sell these used products. They also understand that customer service is the key to this business. "A quick and easy sales process makes all the difference in the world when it comes to a customer's decision to sell the product on their own, which can and usually does entail a world of difficulties, versus a hassle-free experience when they come to The Old School Game Vault to sell these items," said Hieber.

The Old School Game Vault takes great pride in their fast, no-nonsense sales process. Clients receive payment within 24 to 48 hours after sending in their video games, consoles and iPod devices and can be paid by PayPal or business check at their request. The simple-to-use shopping cart on wcityauctions.com features every brand of game system and iPod device. Once you go to checkout and fill in your contact information a sales associate from The Old School Game Vault will contact you within 24 hours with further instructions.

In addition to dealing in their mainstays, video games and gaming consoles such as PS3, Nintendo DS, PlayStation and GameCube games, - to name but a few - The Old School Game Vault will now buy your iPod products too. If the incredible client response that they have received so far is any indication, they will soon be as well known as the place to sell or trade-in iPods as they are for video games and video gaming consoles.
