

Time Clock eShop's New Electronic Time Clocks Save Employers Money

/EINPresswire.com/ Time Clock eShop offers the industry's newest and most innovative time clocks and electronic time stamp products. For 2013, new models of these devices provide time and date validation for a wide variety of documents, forms, and reports.

An electronic time stamp makes the use of messy ink stamps and pads a thing of the past. Although the cost of ink stamps may seem like a small expense to many companies, the constant expense of replenishing stamps and ink can add up over a calendar year. To make the necessary information even more legible, these time and date stamps actually perforate paper with the necessary information. This conveniently eliminates any record keeping mistakes in when items received or paid, which can eliminate costly late fees or interest charges.

An electronic time stamp is used on a variety of documents, including the following examples:

- Deposit slips
- Paid invoices
- Incoming mail
- Medical forms and reports
- Tax receipts
- Court documents
- Stock transactions

Time and date stamps from Time Clock eShop are made to withstand extensive use, with many machines being used hundreds of times every day. Quick and efficient, electronic time stamp machines handle a wide range of paper thicknesses and sizes. With a variety of user-friendly formats and a variety of date and time print options, these devices even print on both flat and uneven surfaces.

Time Clock eShop also carries an impressive variety of time clock devices and software programs. Time clock software is easy to operate and offers valuable benefits. Any workstation or computer can easily be turned into a time clock. Employees can clock in and out, view daily schedules, and request time off.

Time clock software prevents overpayment or underpayment to employees for hours worked, reducing the amount of time and resources that are required to resolve these issues. With only one system to combine attendance and payroll records efficiently, busy human resource departments will enjoy an immediate increase in productivity.

Companies of all sizes will appreciate the ease of use that time clock software and electronic date stamps offer. For a business looking to upgrade from paper time cards or messy date stamps, these innovative devices may offer increased efficiency and improved productivity.
