

Dr. Bruess Announces New Fundraising Campaign for Ned and the Nine Nasty Nosepickers

/EINPresswire.com/ Ned and the Nine Nasty Nosepickers is a children's book by Dr. Bruess with pictures for only the first four pages and is searching for the rest!

Dr. Bruess has written a new children's book called Ned and the Nine Nasty Nosepickers. But he only has illustrations for the first four pages.

Dr. Bruess just launched a Kickstarter campaign to help raise funds to illustrate Ned and the Nine Nasty Nosepickers

With your help, Dr. Bruess will be able to pay the illustrator to finish illustrating Ned and the Nine Nasty Nosepickers.

Ned and the Nine Nasty Nosepickers is a children's book by Dr. Bruess with pictures for only the first four pages and is searching for the rest!

So...do you pick your nose?

Believe it or not, there was a study on nose picking published in 1995 in the Journal of Psychiatry. Yes, that's right - college professors being paid the big bucks to find out who picks their nose.

The study found that 91% pick their nose.

Dr Andrade and Dr Srihari in Bangalore, India were awarded the 2001 Ig Nobel prize in the field of public health for studying nose picking. Their meticulous survey revealed that nose-picking practices are the same for all social classes.

Yes. kids do it.

Celebrities do it.

The President of the United States does it.

Even the Queen of England picks her nose.

Dr. Bruess says: Laughter is the best medicine and my face is curing the world!

Your help is appreciated by Dr. Bruess and he knows that the children appreciate it, too.

Remember what Ned's Mom always said, " Be ready Neddy. You never know what is going to happen next. I believe in you!"
