RackForce Launches Cloud-Express Brand

Easy to purchase, pre-configured, lower-priced cloud server products.

Kelowna, B.C. – Hybrid Cloud and Hosting provider RackForce Networks (www.rackforce.com) announced today a new brand of cloud servers named Cloud-Express. Offering a streamlined approach to selecting and purchasing cloud servers, Cloud-Express is comprised of seven pre-defined configurations spanning a range of sizes supporting a wide array of use cases.

Cloud-Express is available in configurations from a 2 GB RAM, 1 vCPU model through a 30 GB RAM, 10 vCPU High Performance model. It provides simplicity, flexibility and performance, delivered on premium RackForce infrastructure with secure, fully redundant hardware in tier III configured Canadian data centers. Options such as Operating System upgrades, Patch Management and offsite data backup are available. Attractive pricing, month-to-month billing with no term commitment and easy cancellation make Cloud-Express a great solution for both short and long term requirements.

“Our customers and Partners are always looking for ways to streamline their IT infrastructure deployment and management” said Geoff Wright, RackForce’s Director of Sales. “Cloud-Express provides an easy approach to selecting and purchasing cloud servers, plus the pricing is especially attractive. And since it’s hosted on our premium infrastructure we’re confident Cloud-Express presents great value.”

Cloud-Express is available immediately and can be ordered through RackForce’s website or an authorized RackForce Reseller Partner.
