

9th IT Governance Ltd course meets demand for COBIT 5 Foundation qualification

/EINPresswire.com/ To meet the current level of demand from professionals seeking their COBIT® 5 Foundation certificate, IT Governance Ltd will deliver its 9th COBIT 5 Foundation Training Course in London on 3-4 June 2013.

At its launch in November 2012, this training course was believed to be the first in the UK to include the APMG-accredited COBIT 5 Foundation exam. Since November, IT Governance has trained over 60 delegates and the level of interest in the COBIT 5 Foundation qualification remains high.

Alan Calder, CEO of IT Governance, comments: "We are delighted to have trained over 60 professionals at COBIT 5 Foundation level. As a single source provider of training, books and resources for COBIT 5 we can also offer training delegates products to support their ongoing COBIT journey, such as our new, independently developed COBIT 5 Documentation Toolkit."

COBIT 5 is the latest version of ISACA®'s globally recognised framework for developing governance and management of enterprise IT to increase trust in, and value from, information systems. The IT Governance course is led by an approved COBIT 5 trainer and delivers a complete introduction to the key principles, practices, tools and models of the COBIT 5 Framework.

Places are currently still available on the 9th IT Governance COBIT 5 Foundation Course and can be booked online at: www.itgovernance.co.uk/shop/p-479.aspx .

As well as the new COBIT 5 Documentation Toolkit, the IT Governance portfolio of COBIT products includes the official ISACA COBIT 5 Publication Suite and the Implementing Governance of Enterprise IT Using COBIT training course.
