Sencore announced today that Kapetanovic Systems and Sencore have signed a distribution agreement to offer Sencore's full line of video delivery solutions throughout Slovenia, Croatia, Bosnia & Hezegovina. Under the new agreement, Kapetanovic will sell and support Sencore's advanced line of content delivery and monitoring solutions.

"With this partnership Kapetenovic (KS) will expand its portfolio with high-quality, reliable Sencore solutions. Both companies stand to gain additional market visibility, to strengthen their current market position and secure future opportunities by offering the region new tools in video transport, OTT, digital turn-around, live and file streaming, receiving, decoding, monitoring and analysis," said Tony Oehlerking, General Manager - International Business Development.

"The partnership allows us to expand on our already reliable end-to-end system integration and strategic design services. Sencore products offer a more complete solution for our customers regardless of complexity for contribution, distribution, configuration, management, control, supervision and monitoring of video signals. KS continues to stay ahead of the competition with their implementation and creation of the cutting-edge, reliable and functional systems that our customers demand and expect from us." Darko Kapetanovic - General Manager.
