According to recent UK government research, 87% of small firms in the UK experienced a cyber security breach last year, with the average breach costing between £35,000 and £65,000.

With growing threat levels of cyber attacks on smaller businesses, the cyber security experts, IT Governance, have developed an affordable yet comprehensive solution. Their cyber security risk assessment option offers firms a complete risk assessment of their business for just £3,000 (excluding VAT and travel). The assessment follows the 10-step cyber security framework, as recommended by the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills.

The cyber security risk assessment is carried out over three days, including onsite investigation and offsite analysis. As a result, firms will be presented with a customised cyber security action plan for their organisation which will enable them to plan for a more cyber secure business future.

CEO of IT Governance, Alan Calder describes the solution as 'essential' for smaller firms to compete in today's online world: "Cyber threats pose a real risk to all organisations, but particularly smaller firms who are often more vulnerable. Our cyber security risk assessment service is comprehensive, yet affordable, which makes it an essential service for SMEs in protecting the confidentiality, integrity and availability of their data".
