

Web Courseworks Awarded GSA Schedule 874-4 Web-Based Training and Course Development Contract

/EINPresswire.com/ Web Courseworks, a leader in course development and instructional design, announced today that the company has been awarded the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) web-based training and course development Schedule 874-4 contract (Contract GS-02F-121AA).

Madison, WI – April 24 2013 – Web Courseworks, a leader in course development and instructional design, announced today that the company has been awarded the U.S. General Services Administration (GSA) web-based training and course development Schedule 874-4 contract (Contract GS-02F-121AA). This award positions the company to provide innovative, results-based training services through interactive, asynchronous eLearning courses and simulations to the United States Federal Government and any other entity that purchases off the GSA contract.

Known as part of the MOBIS program, this schedule offers agencies access to vendor resources to improve performance and meet mission-critical agency goals through training and workforce development. With this announcement, local, state and federal governments can now work closely with the expert sales team at Web Courseworks to obtain fair and reasonable approved pricing and license terms.

"Web Courseworks understands that workforce development, particularly compliance training, is time-sensitive," said Jon Aleckson, President and CEO of Web Courseworks. "Becoming a pre-approved government vendor has provided us with an efficient and easy mechanism to provide services to government agencies in meeting their educational goals."

As a newly awarded contract holder, Web Courseworks is participating in the 23rd Annual Government Procurement Conference in Washington, DC on April 25, 2013 at the Walter E. Washington Convention Center. This national conference fosters business partnerships between the Federal Government and its prime contractors, including small businesses like Web Courseworks.

Web Courseworks Ltd. has been transforming static lessons into engaging eLearning activities for over ten years. Web Courseworks is a full-service provider of solutions for electronic education, offering a learning management platform, a collaborative web-based ePublishing system, custom development of high-end games and simulations, and rapid development of tutorial-style, asynchronous eCourses. This contract adds to Web Courseworks' wide reaching breadth of current web-based training and education courses designed for clients in the corporate, associations, higher education markets.
