People want to deep clean their homes in the spring. When the air outside becomes warmer, windows are opened and dusty corners are revealed, but people don't want to spend time inside cleaning. Busy homeowners who are looking for flooring options that don't take long to clean or maintain should consider hardwood flooring installation.

How to clean hardwood floors? Here's how to maintain hardwood floors:

- Immediately wipe up spills
- Vacuum or sweep twice a week
- Once a month wipe the surface of the hardwood floor with Anderson cleaner applied to a cloth. Dry the surface with a soft cloth.

Ron Ander, President and General Manager of the Hardwood Flooring Store states, "There are many different species and finishes of hardwood flooring that are very easy to maintain: maple is naturally resistant to moisture, hickory is great for high traffic areas. There are so many different types of easy to maintain wood that make great floors, depending on your situation. The one thing that all hardwood flooring has in common is it's easy to clean."

Cleaning hardwood floors is so simple and safe. There is no need to use harsh chemicals, oil soaps or ammonia cleaners, which are unsafe for the environment and can irritate eyes, nose and throat.
