Press Release: The Petroleum Institute has changed its name to the Petroleum Connection

May 7, 2013

Walkerton, IN

The Petroleum Institute* is pleased to announce that it has changed its name to the Petroleum Connection. The new name is designed to better convey the organization's ability to bring together leaders in various sectors of the oil & gas industry.

A division of Studium Conferences, The Petroleum Connection offers unique events in the dynamic and important oil and gas industry. Limited in size and scope, we bring together industry and various leaders that provide a combination of broad perspective and targeted focus on the issues at hand. Located at top resorts, the Petroleum Connection conferences provide excellent hospitality in an atmosphere conducive to frank engaging discussions and easy networking.

Upcoming Petroleum Connection conferences include:

The Oilfield Housing Solutions Conference (www.petroleumhousing.com) at the Westin La Cantera Resort in San Antonio on May 9 & 10, 2013

The Clean Fracking Communication & Technology Conference (www.petroleumconnection.com/cleanfracking) at the Park Hyatt in Beaver Creek, Colorado on August 6 & 7, 2013

The 2nd Annual Frac Sand Supply & Logistics Conference (www.sandconference.com) at the JW Marriott Hill Country Resort in San Antonio on September 5 & 6, 2013

*Neither Studium Conferences nor the Petroleum Institute are or were in any way affiliated with the American Petroleum Institute. A side benefit of this name change is to eliminate any potential confusion between the two organizations.
