

Delaware Poker Offers Tournaments for 2013

/EINPresswire.com/ Tournaments offer the best way of all to enjoy a true game of Poker.

As one of the most popular card games in the world, it might not be a surprise that visitors to a casino are often looking for a good round or two with players who can provide them a challenge... or even just a target to beat. However, while individual games are great on their own, nothing shines for a true player quite like a tournament.

Delaware Park is proud to offer visitors the opportunity to take part in a number of tournaments held throughout the year, including the massively popular Delaware Park Poker Classic. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are guaranteed to be in the pot throughout this event, but players will have to work hard if they plan to win big.

However, few tournaments are more grueling than the Ironman Poker Challenge, which was recognized as a world record in 2012 as the longest continuous poker tournament when it went for over thirty-six hours of players bringing their very best game to the table.

Entrance to poker tournaments held at Delaware Park can vary, with different tournaments often having different entry requirements. Visitors intending to get involved with any tournament being held are encouraged to check out the rules ahead of time and see if there is anything special they will need to do, like win a seat in another game being held or otherwise go through qualifications.

The competition for poker tournaments at Delaware Park is often fierce, but the prizes can make it all worthwhile. Further information on current and upcoming poker tournaments is available on the Delaware Park website, along with an assortment of other information related to the games that may be of interest to players. For games that truly make it real, Delaware poker is where the fun begins.
