

Local Investment Manager Wins Global Emerging Markets Fund Award

ANNAPOLIS, MD, June 3, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- An emerging markets fund managed by local investment manager Rob Spanjaard has just won a third Raging Bull award for top performance in the mutual fund industry.

An emerging markets fund managed by local investment manager Rob Spanjaard has just won a third Raging Bull award for top performance in the mutual fund industry.

Demonstrating the global scale of Spanjaard's investment abilities, the award covers funds in South Africa that are approved by the Financial Services Board. The winning REZCO Value Trend Fund provided a return of almost 30 percent over the past year. This particular fund is not available to U.S. investors.

Spanjaard serves as a director of Hopkins Investment Management LLC, (HIM) an Annapolis-based fee-only financial planning and investment management firm.

One of the firm's areas of expertise is wealth management for women, especially those experiencing various types of wealth transition such as divorce, death of a spouse, sale of a business or an inheritance.

Risk-adjusted return means getting the best returns for the level of risk taken - the strategy used by Hopkins Investment Management.”

Rob Spanjaard

Says Spanjaard, "The Raging Bull award was for risk-adjusted return, which means getting the best returns for the level of risk taken. This is the same philosophy used by Hopkins Investment Management for its clients. While Rezco is a separate entity from Hopkins Investment Management in Annapolis, as a Director for HIM, we have a similar strategy and consideration for our clients when dealing with their finances."
