Skin is made up mostly of collagen; the base that supports skin and its thickness. Young people have a lot of collagen, exhibiting taut, smooth skin. On the other hand, older people have much less collagen and thinner more wrinkled skin. Peptides signal the skin to make more collagen to replace lost collagen. When collagen breaks down, it forms specific peptides. These peptides act as a signal to tell the skin it was damaged and to produce new collagen. The peptides used in Wrinkle Redeaux anti-wrinkle cream are researched and designed to thicken and strengthen the skin, reduce lines and wrinkle appearance, promote skin repair and overall skin health, elasticity and suppleness.
