

The Conference Group Introduces New Online Billing Center

NEWARK, DELAWARE, June 27, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Audio, video and web conferencing company offers clients a new way to pay and manage their invoice online with instant payments and convenient account management options.

In an effort to make things easier and "greener" for its clients, the Conference Group has introduced a new way for companies to manage and pay their video conference, web conference and teleconference bills online. The Billing Center (<https://www.conferenceinvoice.com/login/>) provides a secure site where The Conference Group customers can easily manage payment options, schedule auto payments, and search and view their invoice history for company and personal accounts.

One of the most notable advantages for customers is that their online payments for conference calling services can be made routinely and securely with scheduled billing. The payment is automatically deducted from a credit card or bank account of their choice on the same date each month. This saves time and prevents late and forgotten invoice payments.

"The Billing Center is a great option for environmentally-friendly companies who prefer to handle their payments and invoices digitally instead of by paper or check," said Kim Lyons, Accounts Receivable Supervisor. "It also provides the convenience for today's businesses to manage their invoices and payments from anywhere at any time!"

The system allows users to store the digital information for a variety of electronic payment methods such as e-check and credit card, all in one place. The Virtual Wallet can help accounts payable clerks allocate funding sources for different departments within the company as needed. The new Billing Center feature can be accessed from The Conference Group website home page by clicking on the Bill Pay icon in the upper right-hand corner.
