Breast size and shape always remained a major concern of women. Some hormonal ups and downs cause the stopping breast growth. Initially there was no any non surgical treatment available for the breast enhancement. Women preferred to go for the surgery but with the time it has been found through the medical research that the breast enhancement surgery is very risky and may cause the cancer. Also, it only changes the breast's physical look but it cannot bring any change in the hormonal levels that are actually responsible for the breast growth.

Studies illustrate that the breast growth is highly affected by the level of estrogen hormone in the female body. Declining the level of estrogen in the female body may result the smaller and shrunk breasts with no shape. A herb called Puraria Mirifica is found highly effective to enhance the level of estrogen in the female body. Health experts took the herb for clinical trials and found it highly effective for breast enhancement.

Triactol contains the Mirofirm which is the refined form of Puraria Mirifica. With the extracts of this herb, the product effectively boosts the level of estrogen in the female body and promotes the breast growth. During the clinical trial, 94% of the women experienced a significant improvement in the breast size and shape within the use of 21 days only.
