PULASKI, NY, July 1, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ --

HealthWay a global leader in air cleaning has launched its new and improved deluxe air cleaning system. The system is the first system to be independently tested and certified to capture 99.99% of all particles down to .002 micron. This is a significant achievement in the indoor air quality industry as ultrafine particles have been linked to cardiovascular disease, cancer and very serious respiratory diseases. The HealthWay deluxe is also the first system set up to specifically address all three pollutant categories, particles, Volatile organic Compounds, and Bio-Aerosols.

One parent tester stated, "The Healthway Deluxe is the perfect air purification unit for any home! I live in a new build where dust particles and other air pollutants are always circulating. Our allergies have been at an all time high as of late. Since bringing the Healthway Deluxe into our home our symptoms have been reduced considerably. I have been very impressed by it's performance! I love that regardless of the speed you have the Healthway Deluxe set on that it does not impact the performance of the unit. I would highly recommend this product."

Another Parent tester claimed, "The Healthway Deluxe is an amazing machine. You can tell its working from the way it changes the smell in any room that it is located in. It takes out all of the harmful bacteria, it is great for asthmatics as I have found with my child as it reduces overall symptoms and I love that it is as simple to use as any plug and play machine. No special configuration required. Unpack, plug in and turn on, its as easy as that!"

Vinny Lobdell Executive Vice President for HealthWay stated, "We are constantly innovating to provide the highest quality solution for sufferer's, The HealthWay Deluxe delivers the most amount of pure air per decibel level of noise while also adsorbing a high level of gases and odors while at the same time killing harmful microorganisms.
