TrackingTheWorld, a global leader in the development of GPS tracking software and equipment, recently announced the availability of distributorship opportunities for the firm's GPS tracking devices and accessories.

"Becoming a distributor with TrackingTheWorld offers businesses of every size the opportunity to tap their own customer bases and increase profits by offering TrackingTheWorld GPS tracking equipment," said Gilbert Walz, CEO of TrackingTheWorld.

Distributors receive the best available pricing on all TrackingTheWorld GPS tracking products, optional drop shipping services, and profit sharing generated by their customers' GPS tracking software subscriptions. Profit sharing is available only to U.S. distributors. "This opportunity is designed to be a simple and profitable addition to any business," said Walz. Interested applicants are requested to complete a quick online distributor application.
