

Personalized Apparel Site Spreads Awareness For Bladder Cancer

Chicago Area Cause Awareness Site Puts Bladder Cancer Awareness Month at Center Stage

BURR RIDGE, IL, July 8, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Each year, approximately 73,000 new cases of bladder cancer will be diagnosed per year, and of that number, nearly 15,000 will die from the disease. It's also the 6th most commonly diagnosed cancer. Although it is fairly common and effects thousands of people annually, not as much is typically known about bladder cancer in relation to other, more common and popular forms of the disease. With July being Bladder Cancer Awareness Month, it's become more important than ever to promote and raise awareness about this form of cancer.

MyWalkGear.com, a personalized cause awareness apparel website located in the Chicago area, is offering a number of accessories, shirts, sweatshirts and gear dedicated to spreading the word about Bladder Cancer Awareness. Everything from personalized bladder cancer awareness t-shirts to walk to defeat bladder cancer water bottles and key chains is offered. MyWalkGear is so committed to spreading the word about bladder cancer because while it is a commonly diagnosed form of cancer, the general public knows very little about the disease. By providing awareness gear to the public to wear on their Bladder Cancer Awareness walks or charity events, they're hoping that more people will start to become better informed about this life-threatening illness.

Spreading awareness and educating people about a number of different causes and illnesses is MyWalkGear's main mission. Regarding their Bladder Cancer Awareness items, the website says their merchandise "could help make a difference in the lives of those suffering from this disease because it spreads awareness and shows the support they need each day to fight for a cure." They offer a wide variety of items designs, messages and apparel so that anyone who wants to spread the message about Bladder Cancer Awareness can do so with an items and style that suits them.

In order to give back to those who are fighting bladder cancer or know someone who is, MyWalkGear.com makes it a priority to give a portion of the proceeds they make from sales to the charity and cause of the customer's choice. This way, they're not only helping spread awareness, but also participate in the fight against the diseases that are taking the lives of friends and loved ones of their customers.

This month, it's easy to find items to wear, show off and carry for your next Bladder Cancer Awareness walk. Go to <http://www.mywalkgear.com> for more information and to learn causes supported and merchandise offered for each cause. They can also be reached at 1-800-470-1446.
