

Video Genesis Review - Walkthrough of Purchase Released Today

With the launch of online video marketing course "Video Genesis" Kevin McClelland of DropoutGotRich.com will be doing a full walk through of his purchase.

LONDON, ONTARIO, July 9, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- "Video Genesis is going to be a game changer in the video marketing space" says Kevin McClelland, owner of the online marketing blog DropoutGotRich.com and creator of the in-depth Video Genesis Review.

McClelland has decided to dedicate his time on Tuesday, July 9th 2013 to creating a full video walkthrough of his purchase of the Video Genesis course when the cart opens. "I know many people are going to be interested in purchasing Video Genesis on its release date, so I've decided to step up and purchase it first and do a full review of the product so that others that are interested can get a feel for the product before decided whether or not to invest in it" says McClelland when asked about the review.

Video Genesis is an online video marketing course that is put together by two internet marketing experts, Andy Jenkins and Mike Filsaime. Andy Jenkins has already created a very high quality and popular video marketing course called "Video Boss" in 2010 that sold over 4,000 memberships, but he has decided to create an updated product for all business owners who are looking to use video to help increase their companies revenue. Not only is Video Genesis expected to be the most in-depth and quality video marketing course online today, but they are launching it at a price that should be affordable to most small business owners.

McClelland's review of Video Genesis is already posted up at <http://www.dropoutgotrich.com/product-review/video-genesis-review/>, but a walkthrough video is going live within a few hours of the cart opening. He will be recording a live screen cast video of his computer desktop as he purchases the product, and then will show viewers exactly what they receive when they enter the back end of the membership site.

Judging from the pre-launch content that Jenkins and Filsaime have released and the visitor traffic they've received to their website they have predicted this to be one of the biggest product launches in the online marketing space for 2013.
