

NIADA Names 2013 National Quality Dealer of the Year

Joe McCloskey has been named dealer of the year by NAIDA.

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLORADO, July 9, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- Recognized as the 2013 National Quality Dealer of the Year by NIADA, Joe McCloskey is proud of his achievements and community service reputation to providing quality Colorado Springs Cars For Sale.

Selected from the State Quality Dealers, McCloskey has spent his lifetime serving the Colorado community. After proving himself as successful sales manager, Joe opened his own dealership with his wife Ann in 1989. Over the next quarter century McCloskey grew his company to include two sales dealerships and two service centers. The business now employs over sixty people and sells more than 5,000 new and used vehicles each year.

Our goal is not to just sell you a vehicle today, it is to save you amazing amounts of time and money and deliver a level of customer service that exceeds your expectations.”

Joe McCloskey

According to the Michael Linn, NAIDA CEO, McCloskey has earned his reputation through his exceptional commitment to quality and community service. He is well known to both his customers and the automotive industry for his remarkable reliability and service excellence. McCloskey made history in 2012 as the first dealership to be named the Colorado Quality Dealer of the Year for the second time.

Devoting himself and his business to the Colorado community, McCloskey has proactively gone to great lengths to help out those in need. When the Waldo Canyon wildfire devastated the community, McCloskey established his dealership as a donation center for collecting funds and brought in over $40,000. The McCloskey family has joined forces with several community groups including the Humane Society, the American Red Cross, and the Care and Share Food Bank.

McCloskey began his love affair with the automotive world pumping gas at ripe old age of 8. From there he became a 13 year old mechanic's assistant. Two years later he was a lot boy and not long after that a salesman. McCloskey understood early on the importance of professionalism and customer service and has spent his lifetime devoted to those vital qualities.

"Our goal is not to just sell you a vehicle today," he said, "it is to save you amazing amounts of time and money and deliver a level of customer service that exceeds your expectations."

Bernie Herpin, councilman of Colorado Springs, recognizes the NAIDA selection of Joe McCloskey as the Quality Dealer of the Year as an obvious choice. As a community leader Herpin appreciates McCloskey's personal and professional pledge to service and quality excellence.
