Asphalt Paving and Concrete recently announced a goal to make sure that customer pavements are maintained in top-notch condition. Numerous sidewalk accidents, such as tripping and falling over raised sidewalks and bicycle injuries from uneven pavement, can be prevented with smooth, clean and even surfaces.

Pavement cracking allows water to seep in through the cracks, which results in cracked concrete bases and subgrades. "We want to emphasize that fixing asphalt and concrete cracks is more than a cosmetic choice. Accidents occur every day from damaged concrete. Our company can provide safe surfaces because we believe that most cracks are good candidates for filling or sealing," said Dennis Puff, a company spokesperson.

Uneven and cracked pavement in poorly maintained areas, such as sidewalks, driveways and poorly prepared excavation sites, are notorious for causing harm. There are thousands of instances in which personal injury lawyers take cases to help clients who have suffered injury on foot or in a vehicle from a badly maintained concrete surface.
