

Growing Families Find Plenty to Love In The Driftwood By Luxury Home Builder, Lifestyle Homes

The Driftwood by two storey home builder in Perth, Lifestyle Homes, is designed with growing families in mind.

PERTH, WEST AUSTRALIA, July 18, 2013 /EINPresswire.com/ -- The Driftwood home design by two storey home builder in Perth, Lifestyle Homes, was created with growing families in mind. The contemporary four bedroom, three bathroom home features an open living floor plan that highlights function yet provides privacy when needed.

The home has three bedrooms located on the upper level, including the master with a private ensuite and balcony access, and a fourth guest room or study on the main level. The spacious ground level living area features an open floor plan kitchen, living room, dining room and alfresco areas. A home theatre on the main floor is shut off from the rest of the lower level rooms by the clever use of bi-fold doors.

One of the company's two storey display homes in Perth, The Driftwood is a four bed, 3 bath open floor plan design.

"What makes The Driftwood so perfect for growing families is the location of the master bedroom upstairs with two of the minor bedrooms. This allows parents of babies and young children to be near them at night to attend to their children's needs. The upper level features its own activity room too which ends up being the perfect location for a playroom. It's out of the way of the public areas of the home and gives kids their own place to play," said Sandra Muller of Lifestyle Homes (www.lifestylehomes.com.au).

Another feature that growing families love about The Driftwood is the designer kitchen. Located in the heart of the home, the kitchen features European appliances and a large walk-through larder. With views of both the dining and living areas along with the alfresco, parents can easily keep an eye on tots while preparing meals.

The luxury home builder kept the modern family in mind when they designed the home, being sure to include a dedicated IT nook in the kitchen and another one on the upper level of the home. Families faced with aging parents like the 3 bedrooms on the upper level, 1 bedroom on the lower level design.

"The addition of the fourth bedroom on the main floor provides privacy for both the homeowner and any guests they may have or it can be used to house aging parents. The fact that it's on the main level means there are no stairs to navigate. It even has its' own private access to the verandah. The flexibility of The Driftwood makes it as perfect for young families as it is for those with older children," noted Muller.

The family-friendly Driftwood has become one of Lifestyle Homes' most popular two storey display homes in Perth. The Driftwood is open for inspection at Colonna St, Dalyellup on Saturdays and Sundays from 1-5pm and on Mondays and Wednesdays from 2-5pm.
