CEO Thomas McKechney

“We want to create a spark that will lead to a large electronic transcript network in Illinois,” said CEO Thomas McKechney. “The potential to send a high percentage of transcripts electronically and significantly reduce the volume of paper transcripts is at the tipping point.”

The following schools attended the forum: Governors State University, Illinois Institute of Technology, Illinois State

University, Joliet Junior College, Lake Land College, Lewis University, Loyola University, McHenry County College, Northeastern Illinois University, Roosevelt University, Shawnee Community College and Southern Illinois University

Credentials Solutions will continue building its sending and receiving network so an increasing volume of schools can exchange EDI, XML and PDF transcripts. “We want to apply our experience developing electronic networks in California, New York and Wisconsin and replicate that success in Illinois,” added Terence Reed, Vice President of Operations. “We can help Illinois schools develop an extensive electronic network with little or no effort on the part of the institutions.”
