

G.F. Sprague, Roofing Contractors in Brookline, Undergoes Major Office Remodel

G.F. Sprague is undergoing an office remodel for the first time in 17 years.

NEEDHAM, MA, USA, July 29, 2013

/EINPresswire.com/ -- Taking advantage of a seasonal lull in business, G.F. Sprague & Co. is remodeling their offices for the first time in seventeen years. Providing roofing in Boston and the surrounding area has kept the remodeling company so busy they've put off making needed updates for several years.

"I compare it to the cobbler's kids having no shoes. We have been so busy helping our customers restore their homes and make them look great that we neglected to do the same for ourselves. Mid-summer is a good time for us to do the remodel since so many of our customers are on vacation. We have a little bit of breathing room to get the project taken care of and so we jumped at the chance to do the remodel this year," noted Jerry Sprague, Owner of G.F. Sprague (www.gfsprague.com).

A lot of our customers want to come see how we design and build our products once they learn that we do all this work ourselves.”

Although the company is making several cosmetic changes to their offices and improving the workspace for their employees, the roofing contractors in Brookline are also updating their systems with the aim of improving the customer experience. New office technology, phone systems and a new scheduling system will all improve the company's response time and service to customers.

In addition to office updates, G.F. Sprague has a showroom to update as well. Unlike many roofing companies in Newton and the surrounding area, G.F. Sprague boasts a complete "Fabrication Facility" on site where products that the company installs are actually designed and built. This facility is open to their customers for tours and will also undergo a makeover during the renovation.

"A lot of our customers want to come see how we design and build our products once they learn that we do all this work ourselves. As part of this renovation the fabrication facility and showroom will be completely updated providing customers with an enhanced tour experience and giving us a great new location to showcase our products. Our overall goal with the remodel is to create the best experience for both our customers and our employees," said Sprague.

G.F. Sprague has been serving the Boston area for 44 years. The company specializes in roofing, chimneys, gutters and windows and is known for their expert copper roofing craftsmanship.
